

ESIS®

The Secret is Out...

Are your claims benefiting from the right clinical intervention and guidance at the right time?

ESIS Clinical Resource Nurses are embedded in our claim protocol to provide insights and recommendations at no extra cost.

A second trip to the emergency room. Too many physical therapy visits without commensurate improvement. An opioid prescription from a non-network provider.

These and hundreds of other events in a claim can signal a need for intervention to ensure that an injured worker is – and stays – on the best path to recovery.

At intake and throughout the life of the claim, our Clinical Resource Nurses receive alerts for claims that may benefit from additional medical review and guidance. Their expert assessment and recommendations help our adjusters:

- Better understand the medical component of a claim and when a different approach may drive a better outcome
- Manage timely, targeted interventions that can help avoid unnecessary or ineffective care
- Proactively leverage the right resources at the right time to improve outcomes and manage costs
- Speed an injured employee's recovery and return-to-work

We provide this service at no additional fee to ensure that each claim benefits from our unique fusion of claims management and medical expertise.

Bringing together claim management and medical expertise on every claim.
